

Asbestos Awareness Training Course

Approachable, knowledgeable, capable - as the specialists in asbestos, Core can meet all your asbestos requirements, including UKAS accredited surveys and analysis, and asbestos management services. We are also happy to share our expertise through our asbestos awareness training course, which is designed to increase your awareness and highlight the potential hazards of asbestos within your working environment.

If you are likely to have to work with low risk, non-licensed asbestos containing materials, then it is important that you know how to do so safely. If this is a requirement then, immediately following the general awareness course, we can continue to train you in how to follow the Health and Safety Executive's Approved Codes of Practice for working with non-licensed asbestos-containing materials.

We provide certificates of attendance on completion of the course, which can be used as part of your asbestos management file. Courses can be held at our premises or a suitable venue of your choice.

To attend or arrange an asbestos awareness training course or for further information, please visit our website or simply give us a call.
